NUMBER 38

It seems a long time since the Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee has blown a blast on his bugle horn. Is it not about time for him to begin to stir up his cohorts for the campaign?

Blaine not being a lawyer, has to be the object of the sneers and ridicule of many Senators. He got much of his mental discipline in the office of the Kennebec Journal, one of the leading papers of his State; and the variety and correctness of his knowledge and the depth and logic of his mind, prove him as capable of ably and sensibly discussing the abstruse legal and political questions which came before the National Congress, as are those gentlemen who strive to cover him with obloquy. Many candid and thoughtful men would hesitate before conceding that the profession of law would better fit a man for the general duties of Congress than the journalistic career.

Matt Carpenter is making up for lost time. His constituents wondered for many months after his return to the Senate, why he was not heard from on the many subjects of national concern which were daily before that body for discussion, and in which the people of his State were vitally interested. His failure to participate in the debates on these matters was attributed to every conceivable reason, from exhaustive professional demands on his time and attention, to the disastrous use of tobacco. Lately, however, he is taking a vigorous hand in the questions which are arising in the Senate. His argument on the Fitz John Porter resolution was an able analysis of the provisions of the constitution which are the guide in such cases; and in his position he was certainly right. His recent argument advocating the distribution of the funds remaining of the Geneva Award to the insurance companies, is brilliant and plausible, but in his position he may possibly be wrong. The verbal duel between himself and Senator Blaine was one of the finest episodes which have been witnessed in the Senate during the session, and while it is gratifying to the constituents of Carpenter to know that he is not inferior to Blaine in learning and repartee, it is comforting to them as American citizens to realize that reason and equity seemed to be on the side of the Senator from Maine.

THE DEMOCRATIC DILEMMA.

The Democratic party has but one object for which it is striving. It is in a state of chaos on the question of tariff, national currency, internal improvements and various other matters of great concern; and its Congressional representatives, partaking of the general lawlessness and instability of the organization, are not happy and truthful unless they are calling each other liars and scoundrels. Mr. Hewett, the Fidus Advertiser of Mr. Tilden, correctly and forcibly expresses the sentiment of the American people, when he says in his recent letter concerning the Springer-Donnelly affair, that the contentions and bickerings among the leaders of the Democracy will be accepted as conclusive evidence of incapacity for self-government on the part of that party. The truth is, that the gods make mad those whom they wish to destroy, and has been so ordained that the Democratic leaders can take no step in any direction but destruction yawns before them. On all national questions they have trucked and haggled, until now they can enter into no discussion upon the floor of Congress without engendering feuds, animosities, and antagonisms among themselves; and as they cannot maintain a policy of silence without a confession of shame and guilt, they are in a strait betwixt two dilemmas to adopt either of which is certain ruin.

The only issue on which they swear and practice perfect harmony, is, that of carrying the next presidential election. They are in the most happy accord in the proposition that, however much chicanery and duplicity it may be necessary to practice, how many wise laws and customs it may be necessary to override, or how many frauds and crimes it may be necessary to commit, the next administration shall not be a Republican. This decision is taken the more positively, and adhered to the more unflinchingly, because the leaders of the Democracy have a vivid comprehension of the fact that the coming campaign will be the last in which their party can have serious hope of success. The new census will move the center of political power more to the West, and the fact stands out in bold relief that the influence of a Solid South will have to give way to the virtue, energy, and intelligence of the overwhelming forces of the West. The political life as embodied in the customs and practices at the natural home of the Democracy at the South, will grow less and less powerful during the next decade, and finally become practically extinct. The numerical representation of the South in Congress and in the Electoral College, will hereafter be much changed. That of the East will be somewhat lessened, but that of the West will be wonderfully enlarged. The center of population of our country, which at the last census was in the vicinity of Cincinnati, will, under the new census, move more toward the geographical center which is near Kansas City, while the political ideas which are represented by the people north of that latitude, will predominate. The result of this new distribution of political power can be but beneficial not only to the American people but to the inhabitants of all lands, where there is a longing for greater liberty. Fortunately, the overthrow of the principles of the Democratic party will not deprive mankind of a single sentiment or precept whose preservation would add to the happiness or facilitate the intelligence and moral development of the race. Always in sympathy with human slavery, it can have no honest zeal for human liberty. Always seeking to make the weak more helpless and the strong more powerful, it can have no sincere belief in political equality. And without these principles which have been bound into the souls of the greater and better portion of our countrymen by war and suffering, no political party of the future can have permanent success.

THE MUNICIPAL COURT BILL AND THE ROCK COUNTY DELEGATES.

Our attention having been called to several articles recently published in the Gazette and other papers in this county, from correspondents, relative to the passage of a law creating a Municipal Court for Rock County, at the late session of the Legislature, in which our action has been somewhat criticized relative thereto, we wish to claim your indulgence for a short space in your columns to present to our constituents a true and unvarnished statement of the facts as we understand them, so that they can judge whether we acted wisely or not in trying to force the passage of a bill, "crude and imperfect," and establishing a "Court entirely different from that asked for by the Board of Supervisors."

At a meeting of the County Board held last January the following resolution was introduced and adopted:

Resolved, "That we the members of the County Board of Rock County, request our members of the Legislature to use their best endeavors to establish a Municipal Court in the city of Janesville and Rock County, similar that of Madison and Dane County."

We understand that in accordance with the above resolution the County Clerk drafted or copied from the Revised Statutes, nearly verbatim, the law under which the Municipal Court for Madison and Dane County was organized. This was sent to Dr. Lord of the Assembly who at once introduced it. It was read twice by its title and ordered printed, and on motion referred to the Rock county delegation for perfection and recommendation. As soon as printed, copies were sent immediately throughout the county, in order that the people and tax payers interested, might canvass its merits, and if not satisfactory to them, they might inform our members, so that they might act understandingly in the matter, and not impose upon the citizens of Rock county a court they did not want. While this bill was in the hands of the Committee, as above stated, and before further action was taken, it was ascertained that in some particulars the bill was not satisfactory in some of its provisions, and would meet with decided opposition if pressed to its passage and become a law, and learning that a committee had been appointed to draft a bill, the delegation held the matter in abeyance until the reception of the new bill. On receiving it we found that it differed in many important features from the original bill introduced, and in consultation we did not feel justified in reporting it as a substitute. Some time after, one of the leading lawyers of Janesville being then in Madison, suggested that the committee who drafted the bill could so amend it as to remove the objections we had to it. The bill was so amended by that committee and returned to us. Shortly afterwards there being several representative citizens of Rock county present, then in Madison, a meeting was had with them by the delegation and the substitute bill was read and carefully considered in all of its details, and it was the unanimous opinion of all present that it would not be advisable to introduce this new bill as a substitute in place of the original. The next day upon consultation with these citizens informally, they expressed themselves strongly in favor of passing some bill, giving the county the relief sought for. Acting upon their advice we concluded to amend the original bill removing the objections raised against it, and report the same as amended at the earliest opportunity. This was accordingly done, and the bill passed under the suspension of the rules. It was immediately introduced in the Senate. When the bill came up there for concurrence, it was, on motion of the Senator from Rock, referred to a select committee of one consisting of himself. In due time that committee reported it back to the Senate with the recommendation that it be indefinitely postponed, which was done, and the bill failed to become a law.

Tilden Captures the Delegates at Syracuse—The Kelly Bolt.

SYRACUSE, April 20.—Strangely enough the convention which met here to-day proves, in the face of all the exposures that have been made concerning Tilden, and all the fierce opposition to him of late, to be the strongest Tilden convention ever held in the State. On a vote taken this morning, which was not quite a test vote, and still almost, one in which the Tilden men mustered 235 votes, the opposition only 89 votes. The question was one of the unimportant ones on which divisions are often made, but the best anti-Tilden speakers exerted themselves to the utmost with only this result. The Tilden men are themselves astonished at the size of their victory. In the convention of 1876 Tilden had only 261 voters out of the same number of delegates. The Tilden men say that in spite of the hubbub against him of late the feeling against him is less bitter than it was four years ago; that prominent men in Tammany hall assure them that if Tilden is nominated many will support him, and Tilden's supporters express real confidence that even before the list of delegates is made up, the Tilden men will be in a position to elect him. In fact, in spite of John Kelly, it is necessary, a resolution expressing willingness to accept Tilden's candidacy.

The Tilden programme was exceedingly adroit. It was far thought out and yet as contrived as to win all the advantages they desired. It was a very adroit plan that they had no intention of instructing the delegation to Cincinnati, but beginning with the first sentence of the speech of Lester B. Faulkner, Chairman of the State Committee, every utterance was made with the idea of letting it be known that this was a strong Tilden convention. Faulkner attacked Tammany at the outset, praising Lucius Robinson, denounced the fraud of 1876, and lauded Tilden by name. Each time he was answered, of course, with the cheers of the Tilden men. Then, too, being sure of a large majority of the district delegations and of the solid vote at Cincinnati, under the unit rule, they made a show of virtue by providing in the resolution for the appointment of a committee to report delegates at large, that in every case where delegates at Cincinnati were elected by the majority of the delegates from a district, those names should be accepted by the convention. This distinct repudiation of the tactics pursued at the Pennsylvania Republican Convention sounded well and cost nothing in the way of advantage.

thought the same bill passed by us through the Assembly, was not so "crude or imperfect" but that it would in the same manner be a means of curtailing the court expenses of this county in nearly the same proportion. At least, we thought it worthy of a trial.

MARSHFIELD.

The Situation Here Easy—The Work of Burying the Dead.

St. Louis, April 20.—Superintendent Nichols telegraphs General Manager Rogers, of St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad, this evening to the following effect. The situation at Marshfield is more easy to-day, and will improve as the people become more calm. The excitement among them is the worst feature now. The dead are being buried as fast as possible, and the carcasses of the dead animals are being hauled away. It is utterly impossible to obtain an accurate list of the dead and wounded. No regular record was kept, and people in their present state of excitement cannot give information; most of them do not know what they are saying. I do not believe a correct report of the casualties will ever be made. From the best information I can receive there have been eighty-one coffins used, and there will probably be four or more deaths to-night.

WHITTAKER.

Progress of the Investigation—Testimony of Cadets—A Saloon-Keener's Statement.

WEST POINT, April 20.—In the Whittaker case this morning Philip Ryan, a saloonkeeper of Highland Falls was questioned closely in relation to the rumors, alleged to have been started by him, that three cadets were in his saloon drinking on the night of the outrage, and one said Whittaker would be fixed that night. He positively denied he had said any such thing, or anything by which such an interpretation could be placed upon his remarks, and that no one was in his saloon that night after 10 o'clock. No United States officers or army officers ever visited his place, and he knows of no cadet being at Falls in March. It is a man appears at his saloon in citizen's clothes he never takes pains to ascertain if he is a cadet. He was making no reservation whatever through fear or loss of patronage. He said a man named Hogan first told him of the affair. He relied mainly upon West Point for support in the winter time.

J. C. Pierce, a back-drifter, was sworn. The Recorder having been informed by letter that he could prove there had been a conversation in Ryan's saloon that night among the cadets, Pierce strongly denied that statement. He first heard such a report from a Mrs. Brannigan, wife of a cavalryman, who said Mrs. Cox told her that Ryan had said there was such a conversation.

Registering Women Voters in Boston.

From Harper's Magazine.

We are indebted to a "stiff correspondent" for the following anecdote concerning the recent registration of female voters in Boston. Its accuracy is vouched for by an eminent artist—one of the most distinguished stonecutters of the Hub:

Enter old lady of a certain age.
"I wish to register, sir."
"Your name, please?"
"Almira Jane Simpson."
"Your age?"
"Bog pardon."
"Your age?"
"Do I understand that I must give my age?"

"Yes, miss; the law requires it."
"Worlds, sir, would not tempt me to give it! Not that I care. No; I had as lief wear it on my bonnet, as a hackman does his number; but I'm a twin, and if my sister has a weakness, it is that she dislikes any reference made to her age; and I could not give my own because I don't wish to offend her."

SUICIDE AT MADISON.

MADISON, April 20.—A man about 45 years old was discovered in Lake Monona by the engineer of a freight train this morning at 7 o'clock. The police were immediately informed and upon being taken from the lake it was discovered that his throat was cut from ear to ear which of itself would have caused death. Near by on the railroad track was discovered large clots of blood and a large jack-knife, the blood laced to the lake. On his person was found $45 and a gold and silver watch. The man was identified by several Norwegians here as Ole Christensen, a wandering beggar and watch trader, who was continually under the influence of liquor. He had one wooden leg, Conductor Perington, of the Northwestern Railroad, came up this afternoon, and says the man came from St. Paul and paid his fare from Eroy to Beloit. As is his custom, he went through his train when nearing Beloit and then missed him, and at once telegraphed back. The probabilities are the man became tired of life, and he took this course to rid himself of it.

"ANYTHING FOR LOVE."

INDIANAPOLIS April 20.—A correspondence has been discovered which has been progressing between Joseph Wade and Mrs. Brown during her incarceration in jail for the murder of the latter's husband. Wade refers to the time "When I killed Brown," and she agreeing in one of the letters to furnish attorneys for his defense at an expense of $500. To a cell mate asked. The Republicans obviously have right on their side, as they only request a reasonable opportunity for debate, and it hardly seems possible that the Democrats will adhere to their absurd attitude after sleeping upon it.

MADISON, April 20.—Senators Sutherland, McGrew, and Smith, the Committee appointed by Governor Smith under the joint resolution of the last Legislature to investigate the affairs of the Wisconsin State Hospital for the Insane, met here to-day and laid out a general programme. Tomorrow they will visit the Asylum and look the ground over. Next week (Monday) the investigation will begin. The Chief Clerk's room in the Senate will be used, and two sessions a day be had for three hours each. An expert bookkeeper will be employed, and possibly a shorthand reporter. The investigation will be conducted with open doors, and reporters allowed to take all the proceedings.

BRIEFLETS.

—The wind is putting on airs again.

—There will be three funerals to-morrow.

—The general report is that trade is good.

—Painters and paper-hangers are having a busy time.

—A show that is cheap in price but high in merit, will always pay well.

—The churches should be supplied with telephones. They have been found to work admirably.

—Strawberries are in the market—in fact have been for more than a week. Delicious and high.

—It will be a good speculation to contribute 35 cents toward "The Two Orphans" to-night.

—The population of the jail is seventeen—ten regular prisoners and seven inmates brought from the county poor farm yesterday.

—Joseph Spaulding, who is now dead, and George H. Whitson, and William Spaulding, who are still living, arrived in Janesville on the 23d of April, 1837—forty-three years ago to-morrow night.

—Mr. John Gramke, died in this city last evening, at the age of seventy-five years. He was a Prussian by birth, and had been a resident of the city for many years. The funeral will take place to-morrow.

—Police Justice Nolan fined Ferdinand Schumaker three dollars and costs, for beating Fred Saulz on Friday night last. The whole amounting to $12.57, and Ferdinand is now of the opinion that an assault and battery is a poor paying business.

—The large quantity of corn in the crib belonging to Mr. McCullough, of Bradford, and which was carried away by the cyclone on Sunday evening, belonged to Mr. Thomas Austin, it having been purchased by him a short time before the storm.

—George F. Prichard & Co. have opened an office and a shop at No. 37 East Milwaukee street, where a good stock of pumps, pipes and fittings and gas fixtures, is kept on hand. George is an experienced workman, and what he undertakes to do, will be done well.

—The extensive millinery opening of Messrs. J. & D. Creighton, will take place next Friday evening, beginning at half past six o'clock. The firm have made ample preparations for an elaborate display, and therefore will have a stock on hand which will be of rare interest to the ladies.

—Messrs. Harris & Smith have again received another order from Alexandria, Egypt, for a large shipment of their patent safety lamp. This is the second or third order from the land of the pyramids and hieroglyphics. This lamp is becoming famous, not only at home, but in the great countries of the East.

—Mr. A. A. Jackson, attorney for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company, has purchased nine acres of ground in Afton, of Mr. Larson, a blacksmith, for $1000, on which will be erected the depot for the branch road running from this city to that place. The report that there was a contest between the Northwestern and the St. Pauls to which would secure that tract of land, is unfounded.

—The lectures delivered in this city by Darius Allen, of Janesville, were of a character to entitle him to the reputation of being one of the most eloquent and earnest temperance orators now in the lecture field; and second only to Gough. His lectures abound with anecdotes, personal experience and incidents which have come under his personal observation, which make them intensely interesting from beginning to end. And his satire on the flag is a literary production which is hardly equaled in the English language. Sunday afternoon he spoke in the largest hall in the city, under the auspices of W. C. T. U., to one of the largest audiences that ever assembled in this city under like circumstances, to listen to a temperance lecture. He impressed all present with the importance of temperance work, as a means of saving the nation from decay and destruction and demonstrated to them that "eternal vigilance was the price of liberty," now as in our early struggle for independence. —Rock County Republican.

We understand that Mr. Allen will lecture at Leppin's Hall sometime next week.

Elegant accommodations, lowest prices. Astor House, N. Y.

A GOOD PERSONAL.

The Madison Democrat of last Sunday, contains the following: "The familiar face of Prof. G. W. Hersee appeared in Madison again yesterday, summoned all the way from Janesville by an old patron to revive a languishing piano. From this it would appear that 'George's' old time popularity still clings to him. In his vocation, as in all others, there are stars, and Mr. Hersee is unquestionably the star of Wisconsin piano tuners. He has received the flattering compliments of the past season of being summoned from a distance by Ole Bull, Remenyi and Willhelm, to attend to instruments—a testimonial of his skill that greatly rejoices his Madison admirers. It is not generally known, but a fact nevertheless, that this popular tuner received his education at Amherst and later pursued a full course of medicine at Bowdoin college. This doubtless accounts in a measure for his success in 'doctoring' pianos. Those needing his services should advise him at once as he leaves town soon."

FLORENCE HERBERT.

The Florence Herbert Dramatic Company were honored with a large house last night at Myer's Opera house, when the exceedingly interesting and laughable comedy was presented—"Josh Whitcomb." It is the general impression that there is but one person who can do "Josh Whitcomb" as it should be done, and that person is Denman Thompson. He is in that play as Joe Jefferson is in Rip Van Winkle, or as Edwin Adams was in Enoch Arden. But the performance last night, proved that "Josh Whitcomb" can be produced, and produced well, without Den Thompson. As we said last evening, the company throughout is a good one. It is well-balanced, and beside that, Miss Herbert is an actress of superior power.

The company will produce that powerful drama, "The Two Orphans," to-night. They will have a full house, and the public can have the assurance that the play will be well rendered.

DEATH OF MRS. HARRISON.

Mrs. Mary Ann Harrison, wife of our well-known citizen, T. B. Harrison, died at the family residence on Hickory street, in this city, last evening, after a brief illness of one week. Mrs. Harrison was born in England in 1812, and was therefore sixty-eight years old. She came to Janesville thirty-one years ago—in 1849—and lived here ever since. She enjoyed the warm friendship of a large circle of acquaintances who will deeply grieve to hear of her death, and who will extend to the husband their profound sympathy in this, the hour of his sad bereavement. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at the residence.

SWEET HOME COLUMN.

Short Chat-Chat With some of Our Inquisitive Correspondents.

Some of the numerous class of friends who believe it is more blessed to give than to receive advice have occasionally suggested that the Gazette should open a home corner, after the fashion of the Chicago Tribune and some other rural sheets. We have at last concluded to accept the advice so far as to give this sample free to each of our readers, but cannot guarantee the quality of the goods, and don't know whether they will wash, nor can we promise to manufacture any more at this price. If we do keep up the column though, we should be pleased to receive and answer questions on any subjects except history, science, religion, walking matches, and politics. As we have no questions to start with we give you only the answers, and allow our readers the privilege of making out such questions for them as they see fit:

C. M.—No.
T. L.—It's a good haul.
R. W. B.—It's a good rule to go by rule.
O. H. F.—Try it for all it is worth and get all it is worth for trying it.

T. T. C.—In your hands drugs will never become a drug in the market.

J. S. H.—Yes. We believe it was J. D. —somebody, who runs against Haselton for City Treasurer, but didn't knock him down or hurt him any.

H. A. S.—The best and cheapest place to get drilling is at the southwest corner of Pleasant and River streets, up stairs.

L. B. La G.—If there is to be any change made have the boys get red pants.

H. H. B.—We are not well enough posted on the matter to tell, but think that the best preacher in the city is the man who holds forth in that church on the corner. You can readily find the place by that description.

A. R.—A man named Creighton was the inventor of that magic photograph, and you had better see him. The picture is a very simple affair and will bear further investigation.

H. L.—You are right. The fashion of tattooing a monogram on a bald scalp has not been introduced here yet, but it would be much easier and more sensational to tattoo the popular horse shoe design with the initials inside of it.

Rev.—By no means. Unless you have a large income or your provisions are moulding, don't let them get up a donation party at your house. Suggest to the brethren that your wife is house-cleaning, and that that the money will reach you safely if deposited to your credit in any of the banks.

Mrs. X.—One of the simplest and most economical is the "Poor Man's Cake" which can be easily prepared, and will prove a reliable addition to a plain and tastefully prepared meal. The recipe is, 4 pounds raisins, stoned and chopped, 3 pounds currants, 1 pound citron, 1 pound almonds, 4 pounds butter, one tablespoonful of sweet milk, 7 pounds sugar, the white of one egg, and two yolks of another, 3 grated pineapples, a pinch of salt, 3 tablespoonfuls of flour. Flavor to suit, and bake until a wisp from the old broom will pass in and out without the dough sticking to it.

Xenia.—Oh, yes. We have seen the man who don't believe that advertising in the newspaper ever amounts to anything. He came up in the office the other day, and as a fellow when his hat blows off, and all because we got the middle initial of his name wrong in publishing a list of the officers elect of a secret society.

Boy.—Certainly not. It isn't the fair thing by the dog, and your mother will find the tin can so badly battered by the time it has gone the length of Milwaukee street, that she can hardly use it for putting up tomatoes for next winter.

F. G. S.—There is quite a demand for them, and they are scarce. Strippers will be more plenty after the weather gets warm enough, if the swimming ordinance is not enforced too strictly.

G. A. L.—By all means. It will be perfectly safe to get a new handle for the pump. The water works won't get fairly to going before fall.

P. N. A.—From your description we should think that short sleeves would be becoming, but you ought to get something else to wear with them.

J. F.—We have the exact figures before us, but we are sure it took a little less gas, though of better quality, to light a post during last year, than it did to plant one.

Flurry.—He surely can't mean business. Six dollars a week is not a large salary, to be sure, but by good management and plenty of credit, many a brave-hearted young man on that salary manages to hire a lively once a week at least, and give an occasional present, to say nothing of theater tickets, cut flowers, and vanilla ice-cream. Look out that he don't pass off a paste sparker on you.

Trumble.—We never played it, but there is a man in the Fourth ward, who was at it all of last winter, and has laid awake many a night thinking about it. He can tell you what "freez-out" means, for his own wife has cold feet.

First Ward.—It wasn't a black horse at all, though you are right in the main about its being a horse with a long tale, or a long tale with a horse. We don't know which. One thing is sure, the horse referred to has no record which is authentic.

PLYMOUTH.

—Lewis Smiley who had the misfortune to break his leg last fall, has so far recovered as to be following the blow.

—If I human while working in his field a few days ago, fell from his wagon and broke two ribs.

—Miss Josie Granger a graduate of Whitewater, is to teach in the Fisher district this summer.

—We learn that a number of our Scandinavian friends are very sick.

MILTON CHEESE FACTORY.

To the Editor.

A meeting of stockholders of the Milton Cheese Factory, called for electing officers and securing a permanent lease of the grounds, which was usually noticed by the Gazette, was held at Hamilton's hall, March 25, 1880, at which a large majority of the stock was represented, and was entirely united and harmonious in its action.

The officers of the Association were not present; and their two years past in action, in not holding a meeting of any kind, in not calling a meeting of stockholders to elect officers, in not making a report of their receipts and disbursements, in erecting the factory which was built in 1873, and in forfeiting their lease of the grounds by failing to make even the first or any rent payment of the first or second year, seemed to indicate officers a useless appendage, and none were elected.

It was unanimously resolved that a legal and permanent lease of the grounds on which the factory stands should be secured, and that the factory should run for the season of 1880, and the meeting adjourned.

A lease of the grounds running as long as the building shall be used as a creamery or cheese factory and two years thereafter, (with the privilege of removing the buildings when the land is surrendered) was secured April 16th, 1880; and ten years' rent paid and receipt on the same in advance; a competent cheese maker is employed, and on the ground, and Providence permitting, the factory will open for the season, Monday, May 3, 1880.

The past two years' experience having been disastrous to the patrons and discouraging to all concerned, (requiring one-third of the cheese to pay for the making) the factory will run for the season 1880, making the cheese for one-sixth of the price, or for one and a half cents per pound, at the option of the patron at commencement.

These unprecedented terms are made for the purpose of maintaining, if possible, a factory in Milton, that shall be remunerative to its patrons, and a general benefit to the community.

GEORGE D. CHURCH.

Pretty and Young.

In every feature but the hair, which had grown white from fever. This lady at 35 writes us: "I have used Parker's Hair Balsam six months and am more than pleased with it. It has restored the natural brown color of my hair and given it a silky softness, nicer than ever before. There is no Dandruff, no falling hair, and it leaves the scalp so clean and nice and cool that I am ever so much pleased, and I feel and look like myself again." The beautiful, fresh and vigorous hair it produces, together with its property of restoring gray or faded hair to the natural youthful color, and entirely freeing the head from dandruff and itching, surprises no less than it pleases. Sold in large bottles at only 50 cents and $1.00 by all first class druggists.

Were man to conform more to the laws of health and of nature, and be less addicted to the gratification of his passions, it would not be necessary to advertise Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites as a restorative for the powers of the brain and nervous system, while the world's progress in enlightenment would indeed be marvelous.
